News Release

Date: April 12, 2010

Lt. Mark Mayberry of the Northwest Regional Police has charged Joshua P. Wolf M/21 of New Providence, Pennsylvania with Burglary. The charge was in relationship to a break-in on 19th or 20th March 2010 at Bass Mechanical, 2246 South Market Street, Elizabethtown. Wolf is a former employee of Bass Mechanical. Entry into the building had been gained by prying a locking mechanism on a door. Taken during the break-in was 50 feet of welding cable valued at $234.00 and three sections of stainless steel valued at $155.00.

Wolf was arrested on April 8, 2010 in Mount Joy Township. He was arraigned and committed to the Lancaster County Prison in lieu of $20,000 bail.
